1983-1984 DIRECTORY OF NORTH CAROLINA MANUFACTURING FIRMS

NOV 1 1982

Governor's Message

Each year North Carolina is ranked at the top of some of the most prestigious business climate surveys in the nation.

In a 1982 Fortune Magazine survey more companies named North Carolina as the likely site for a new plant than any other state except Texas. Surveys by other publications, including Business Week and Inc., confirm North Carolina's high rankings.

There are good reasons for our state's growing reputation as a great place to do business. Our people are hardworking, industrious, and among the most productive in the world. Our cities, towns, and communities have a healthy attitude toward business. Our extensive transportation system links every area of North Carolina to markets across the country and the world.

We also offer many incentives to industry, including skills training programs for new manufacturing operations, financial assistance, and a variety of location services.

But I believe one of our strongest selling points is the large number of industries that have already established themselves in North Carolina. Together these firms use or offer an incredible variety of products and services.

I want to extend a very special word of thanks to all of the companies already operating in North Carolina. They have led the way to an unprecedented period of growth and prosperity for our state.

To those of you who have not yet visited North Carolina, I extend an open invitation and urge you to contact our state industrial development staff for any assistance your company may need.

I believe that when you have seen what our state has to offer, you too will be ready to call North Carolina home.

Governor

G. E. Microelectronics Center,
Research Triangle Park, N.C.

INTRODUCTION

The 1983-84 Directory of North Carolina Manufacturing Firms is published by the Department of Commerce as a service to the state's industrial establishments. It contains six sections which present information for some 6,700 manufacturing firms alphabetically, geographically, by product, by materials purchased, by a company-parent-company cross index, and an export-import guide.

The alphabetic index is a complete alphabetical listing of all manufacturing firms reported in the Directory. It contains the name of each firm and the city or town location. Also, it indexes the firm in the geographic guide. The geographic guide provides the most comprehensive listing. It includes mailing and street addresses; city, county and region; company headquarters; parent company; chief executive and title; import-export activities and the name of export manager; year plant was established; phone number; employment range; and a description of products manufactured. The product guide lists the mailing address, city, county, phone number, employment range and product description. Arrangement in this section is by four-digit Standard Industrial Classification (SIC) code. The purchase guide lists the mailing address, city, county, phone number, employment range and description of company purchases. Arrangement in this section is by two-digit SIC code.

Data in this Directory was prepared during a survey of North Carolina manufacturing firms. Considerable effort has been made to compile a complete list of the state's manufacturing firms; however, it is possible that some companies have been omitted inadvertently. Your assistance in helping identify these firms is solicited.

The Division of Industrial Development appreciates the cooperative efforts of North Carolina's manufacturers in submitting data for this Directory. An accurate inventory of the state's manufacturing firms is a vital tool in planning for the economic growth of North Carolina.
